About GeoPostcodes.com

Launched in 2007, GeoPostcodes website offers comprehensive and reliable databases of localities, streets, administrative regions, ZIP/postal codes and lots of other information for all countries. Data such as this can be integrated into professional software, websites and mobile applications, be used to generate statistics, complete addresses, validate forms and have multiple other uses.

Our files are fully geocoded and provided in a plain and simple, consistent format, easily importable in any DBMS or geographic information systems (GIS).

Our philosophy is to provide useful, high quality data for everyone at a reasonable cost. We have created fabulous databases containing reliable information that has been cross-checked against multiple sources using specifically designed data processing and GIS tools.

Products

Standard Edition datasets

Our standard datasets contain all administrative regions, localities and ZIP/postal codes* of a country, including business and administrative codes when available. Additional information such as neighborhoods, suburbs, time zones, elevations, administrative standard codes (ISO, FIPS, HASC, NUTS, National Statistics) are also provided. Please check our data design to get a list of all available fields.

All data are georeferenced using the WGS84 datum and can be easily imported into any software, database or GIS system.

This is the perfect product if you need to update your contact list, validate forms, build a store locator, display locations on a map, create statistics reports and much more.

Street+ Edition datasets

The Street+ datasets contain all information from Standard datasets plus the comprehensive and geocoded list of street names for the whole country. This is the perfect tool to build a geocoder, check and improve the quality of your addresses or enhance your GIS system.

Please note that Street+ datasets are available for selected countries only.

Packages

If you need more data, we have bulk packages of our standard datasets. This is a great opportunity to get a complete region at a discounted price.

* Please note that for countries which have no postal code system, this field is left empty

Formats

Our data are provided in several text and GIS formats which can easily be imported into any software or database management system. All available formats are stored in a single zipped file.

CSV

CSV (Comma-separated values) data is one of the most ubiquitous file formats, most spreadsheets and databases can easily read native CSV files. Its simple format can be edited in a text editor. Many programming languages have special libraries to read and write CSV files, therefore making it a great medium for exchanging large quantities of data.

ASC

We provide an alternative normalized ASCII version in CSV format where all accents and diacritics have been removed. This version can be used to facilitate searching or sorting.

DAT

The DAT format is identical to the CSV format except that it is encoded in UTF-16. This format can be used with Microsoft SQL Server.

Shapefile

ESRI Shapefile format (.shp) is a popular geospatial vector data format which can be imported into most geographic information system software (GIS) like ArcGIS, Grass, Quantum GIS, PostGIS and many others.

KML

The Keyhole Markup Language (.kml) is another popular geographic format using XML notation and maintained by Google. It can be used with Google products like Google Earth or Google Maps, as well as with many other software programs.

GeoJSON

GeoJSON is an open standard format for encoding collections of geographical features along with their non-spatial attributes using JavaScript Object Notation..

GML

The Geography Markup Language (.gml) is a XML grammar defined by the Open Geospatial Consortium (OGC) to express geographical features. GML serves as a modeling language for geographic systems as well as an open interchange format for geographic transactions on the Internet.
